

Pet Emergency Kit

You love your pet, so make sure they are prepared for a disaster too!

Having an emergency kit will help you survive and recover after a disaster. Remember, following a devastating event, it could take days, or even weeks before services are fully restored, or it is safe to return to your home. It may seem daunting at first, but there are some simple steps you can take to prepare emergency kits for you, your family, and your pets.

You can purchase ready-made kits at a number of local and online suppliers, or you can begin to assemble one yourself from extra items you may already have at home. The lists below will help you identify your needs.

- Food (2 weeks' worth)
 - Water
 - Blanket
 - Can opener for wet food
 - Medications if required (2 weeks' worth)
 - Non-spill food and water bowls
 - Copy of licence, tags, and vaccination records
 - Photo of your pet
 - Spare collar/leash
 - Toy and treats for comfort
 - Paper towel and plastic bags for waste
 - Disinfectant, or hand sanitizer (for you)
 - Pet carrier or cage
