of one half per cent upon all non-resident lands in addition to all other rates, other than Wild Lands. Non-resident lands to mean all lands upon which there are sufficient improvements to exempt. The same from wild land tax, but upon which no residence has been effected for at least six months in any year, nor upon which cultivation is continuously performed. That the present mode of only assessing such lands equally with those of the permanent settlers, (whose residence materially enhances the value of the adjoining non-resident lands) is manifestly unfair and unequal in its bearing. Also that the Municipal Assessment Act be amended so as to allow rural municipalities to make the assessment in December month and the Court of Revision to be held by the incoming Council the following year, it being thought to be more desirable as road work can be performed much earlier in the season and will be of more permanent good.
